FREQUENCY

ELLEN ERCOLINI

WHO YOU ARE

You're caring, nurturing, supportive and grounded. You care a tremendous amount about other people. There's a warm sturdiness that attracts people to you- you feel innately trustworthy. You are the EARTH frequency!

Your heart is huge. Earths just want to make sure everyone is fed, taken care of, loved, and generally having a good time.

NATURAL TALENTS

You have an innate ability to see the bigger picture - and it always involves the greater good. You see people's uniqueness, their good, and their gifts. You love learning and are a natural teacher.

Often what you learn, both books smarts and life lessons, becomes part of what you teach the world around you.

You're an incredible guide for groups and one on one work. People love the heart connection and trust they feel with you. It's great to let your heart connection shine through in your work. For earth folks above all other frequencies, if you're heart is not on board, it's going to feel like dragging a stroller through the mud. Things might move forward, but at a painfully slow pace.

tools for business growth

Earth people have an easier time moving forward when they are seeing and feeling the positive results of their actions...so much so that it can become a catch-22.

It's imperative that you stay true to yourself, and keep moving forward towards your dreams.

Momentum is the key for you. Let the small steps add up to big ones; the movement will build. Once you have momentum on your side, it's hard to stop you. This is your secret weapon for accomplishing your goals: small steps that create lots of momentum.

Earth frequency folks all care deeply about making the world around them a better place that takes better care of its people. They all want people to be happier + healthier.

Home is an important theme: they all want people to feel at home in their own skin, in their actual home, and in their lives. They are also lifelong learners, using their lessons learned to teach others. You can see this clearly reflected in Oprah's work.

things to watch out for

Earth people are incredibly capable and have a strong big picture vision, but can often get caught in their own insecurity. There's a voice in your head that says you're not good enough, not living up to your potential, or someone else could do this work better.

Everyone has this voice but if you're on the earth frequency it's dialed up to 12. The biggest obstacle to an Earth person's success is learning how to navigate that inner critic.

Learning how to navigate your inner critic is going to be imperative to your business success.
